Boulder, Colorado-September 3, 2009-Channel 1 Networks LLC announced it will be live streaming during the Home Town Fair in Boulder. This live event will be hosted by Boulder Channel One’s own, Jann Scott, Gabe Lee, and Heather Looser. The live show will be held daily during this Labor Day weekend. Local talk show host and Channel One Networks CEO Jann Scott had this to say, “I’m looking forward to this weekend, we will be having interviews, special guests and lots of fun. We will be the voice of local and national media this weekend, since the other outlets can’t seem to make their way out to Boulder very often, that’s OK with me because the people love us and we love our jobs. We have been preparing for this for some time and we have a great show planned.

Channel One Networks will be setting up their live streaming video equipment and start live streaming on Saturday at 10:00am. The hometown fair is located along the Boulder Creek corridor, between 13th Street and 10th Streets, in downtown Boulder. Fashion Channel One will be selling the highly sought after limited edition t-shirts for University of Colorado students. “With the Chili cook-off and the Great Zucchini Race going on, I think well will be getting plenty of exciting people down there and if they aren’t too crazy we’ll interview the winners,” said Scott.
